

An App branded for you, plus Messaging and Email

International Schools, you've got your own website, stand out from the crowd with an App branded for you

Over 95% of students now own a smartphone, spending 75% of their smartphone time on Apps, so if you haven't got an App you're probably missing a key way of communicating with them.

Students can get in on the action with the App giving them direct access via their smartphone to all the Apps and websites that you used in college and university as well as keeping them up-to-date with events and news. Your own App is vital for your School and can help to improve student engagement.

With easy access to the calendar on their smartphone to check vital exam dates, combined with messages to keep them informed about things that are going on, plus links to all the third-party systems you use brings everything together in one smart App.
